should have said, his stand in the City on account of the Jewish Dispensation, instead for the time being.

Dr. Thayer, contract Surgeon, U. S. A., arrived at Camp Douglas yesterday, and by order will immediately relieve Surgeon Robt. K. Reid: 2d Cav. C. V., of the duties of that Surgeon.

CROWDS OF REBEL PARDON-SEEKERS.— Two hundred and twenty-two, out of less than four hundred guests, at one of the principal hotels, in Washington, are rebel pardon seekers.

ADVERTISING of S. W. Joel & Co's new auction stand and commission stand, will appear tomorrow. They have opened out close to Dr. Reid's Drug Store, Groesbacks corner, East Temple street.

States is estimated at about 320,000 to 350,000. 200,000 of whom are

Capt. George F. Price, A. A. A. General, on Gen. Connor's Staff, informs us necessary arrangements will soon be made, and the mines in this Territory will be thoroughly developed.

The Degree meetings of Camp Dou-next meeting of the Council will be held on Friday, Oct. 6th.

The destruction by the Indians of the Union Western ~~telegraph~~ line in Colorado, for the distance of five miles, cutting off connection with the country beyond, makes it necessary to send forward extra mounted horses and supplies. Hence the stoppage of the sale of Government horses and mules at the several points in the North and West.

By the recent arrival of Dr. Thayer, Surgeon, U. S. A., at Camp Douglas, Dr.
Robert K. Reid, Surgeon, 2d Cav. C. V., and for a long time Post Surgeon, will be relieved from duty at this post. Dr.
Reid has been Surgeon to Gen. Con-nor's Command since the organization of the 3d Regt. Inf., C. V., in 1861.
The Doctor, besides being a skillful physician, is an affable, intelligent gentleman, and is esteemed by his hosts of friends.

We understand that he will soon leave, and report at the headquarters of the 2d Cav. C. V., to which Regiment he was transferred from the 3d Inf. upon its becoming a Battalion. His departure will be sincerely regretted by this command and all his acquaintances in

The Missouri Statesman says that the first steamer that descended the Missouri river was the "Independence," Captain Nelson, of Louisville, Ky. This steamer left the port of St. Louis on Saturday, May 15, 1819, and thirteen days afterward, that is on Friday, May 28, 1819, reached Franklin, then a flourishing town in Howard county, opposite Boonville, with passengers and a cargo of goods, whiskey, sugar, molasses, &c.

The latest whim of fashion in Europe is for ladies to increase the height of the forehead by artificial means. The foreign papers have plentiful supply of advertisements of waters for the purpose of destroying the hair on the forehead at once and forever. The less expert, or more economical, shave, and have a hideous blue mark, like the result of a razor over a rough beard.

ADAM ISAACS MENKEN arrived in New York August 9th, on a flying visit. There is an old ad. that the "Menken Shaft and Tunnel Mining Company," of Virginia City, has enriched Menken fifty thousand dollars. When the Company took the name of Menken, they donated their fifty shares of the stock, then worth one hundred dollars per share. The stock is now said to have advanced to one thousand dollars per share.

The local editor of the Columbus, Ohio, Journal, an old soldier, says: "Discharged soldiers cannot have the importance of keeping their discharge papers too frequently impressed upon them.
The brokers and speculators who buy them for a song, expect to sell them back, at immense profit, when Congress shall have appropriated lands to the use and benefit of volunteers honorably discharged the service."

An elegant writer in the Chicago Republican, who selects his metaphors regardless of effluvia or surroundings, begins an editorial as follows:
"As rain on a dunghill produces tondoots, so Napoleon's tortuous policy in Mexico, and that of some of his auditors in this country, fill the air with audacious fancies and inventions." There is no more of this, but we think the above will suffice.

IDAHO NEWS.

One P. S. Malone, called "patmalone" for short, by the Boise city Statesman, has been writing the scabbiest sort of copperhead letters from (and about) Idaho Territory to the New York World, lately. The Statesman replies, running him through a rugged course of sprouts, as his slimy correspondence deserves.
The Administration element in that Territory made the place too hot for Pat, so, a couple of weeks since, he betook his "loathsome carcass," as the Statesman calls it, out of Idaho and back to Oregon where it belonged. He had been doing the "dirty work" for the Idaho City World, the past season, says the Statesman.

Th Boise city theatre seems to be progressing prosperously, with Sue Getzler and Mr. Lindsay "doing" the "nice singing."

A desperado named West Jenkins shot at and wounded a man sporting the classic name of Murphy, from Rocky Bar, at the bar of Chapman's saloon, Boise City, on the 18th.

The Statesman before us contains neither mining news nor market reports, hence we cannot quote.

The editor of the Idaho Radiator, Lewiston, gives the people of that place the following parting salute. If the article was not penned in a state of the biggest disgust, then we don't know what to call it:

We take our pen in hand to announce that in this article it will shed the last drop of ink that will flow from its point for the North Idaho Radiator; and at the same time, candor compels us to say, that nothing but superlative stupidity can be pleaded as an excuse for shedding the first drop. The people of Lewiston lack the enterprise and liberality requisite to maintaining a local paper. Until they increase in numbers or a disposition of public spirit takes the place of present self-aggrandizement and niggardly catch-penny penuriousness, they can rest assured that they never will have a local journal permanently established in their midst.

Friendship in marble; enmity in dust."
And thus ends the Lewiston Radiator, and the grand Lewiston Territorial capital farce.
